

On visiting Londolozi in 1992 Mandela saw the vision that was being lived by the employees and management in collaboration with nature.

Freedom's Way brings attention to the difficult path we all must walk to reach our greatest potential. The words cut from steel, ground the positive values that should be nurtured. The four steel bars represent the obstacles of life that master us - we pass through them to liberate ourselves.

While it is important to recognise Mandela's solo achievements, it is critical that we take his passion into our own lives, taking forward the elements of great leadership to heal the human affliction in the world.

COURAGE

"I learned that courage was not the absence of fear but the triumph over it. The brave man is not he who does not feel afraid but he who conquers that fear."

EMPATHY

"I stand here before you not as a prophet but as a humble servant of you, the people. Your tireless and heroic sacrifices have made it possible for me to be here today. I, therefore place the remaining years of my life in your hands."

FREEDOM

"I have walked the long road to freedom. I have tried not to falter. I have made mistakes along the way. But I have discovered the secret after climbing a great hill, one only finds there are many more hills to climb."

RESILIENCE

"The greatest glory in living lies not in never falling but in rising every time we fall."

TRUST

"We signal that good can be achieved amongst human beings who are prepared to trust, prepared to believe in the goodness of people."

UNITY

"Education is the most powerful weapon which you can use to change the world."

VISION

"The power of imagination created the illusion that my vision went much further than the naked eye could actually see."

PATIENCE

"Patience is waiting, not passively waiting. But to keep going when the going is hard and slow."
